Zach Dovey,
Celdo Ltd.

14th. September 2011

Dear Zach,

It has been a pleasure talking with you over the last couple of years regarding your newly designed Keggo water carrier. The concept of rollalong containers is not new, but where you score is with the ability to be able to dismantle for transportation and the fact that the bag inside can be changed at very little cost.

I am also delighted to hear you now have your funding application approved for production by Brussels. Please let me know once you are in production and we can discuss how we can best assist with a marketing campaign through our Regional Offices in Kenya, South Africa and Nigeria.

I hope you are now able to move swiftly towards production of the product, and await confirmation you have samples ready for despatch. At that time details will be forwarded to all our offices who will organise trials for the product with existing clients. On receipt of a favourable response we will be pleased to consider formalising an agreement.

Good Luck.

Regards,

Barry Burns.
Sales and Marketing Director.
