

The Barrel water bag & gland are placed in the Barrel tap end with the Gland being pushed through the hole in the barrel. This is then secured in place by the tap securing nut & a washer, to which the tap is then screwed onto. The barrel center is then put on over the water barrel bag locating with the barrel tap end. The barrel end 2 is then put on to complete the assembly of the barrel. The barrel is then placed in a frame (this is not shown as we do not have the frame design as it has been produced by someone else) so that it can be moved about.
